That is a good policy. It should also have been applied per Obama's alleged credentials for presidential eligibility, by state Secretaries of State, by the Democratic National Committee, by the Electoral College, and now, by Congress. And, of course, by the United States Supreme Court.

Challenge, can anyone prove this wrong?:-

1. Constitution Article II requires USA President to be "natural born citizen".
2. BHO's website admits his dad was Kenyan/British, not American, citizen when BHO was born.
3. BHO is therefore not a "natural born citizen" (irrespective of Hawaiian birth or whether he may be a 14th Amendment "citizen" of USA) — as confirmed in the Senate's own McCain qualification resolution agreed to by BHO.
4. Supreme Court has already docketed two upcoming conferences, 1/9/09 and 1/16/09 — between dates Congress counts electoral votes (1/8/09) and Presidential inauguration (1/20/09) — to address Berg Case and fashion relief on BHO's eligibility to be President.
5. Since no facts are in dispute, Supreme Court rules on Summary Judgment to enjoin BHO's inauguration as President.
6. Therefore, BHO is not inaugurated as President.
7. Vice President Elect Biden is inaugurated Acting President under the 20th Amendment to serve until new President is determined — the procedure for which determination to be set out by Congress and/or the Supreme Court so long as in conformance with the Constitution.
